Java™ Communities in Action

A Celebration of Community Collaboration

Tuesday, June 29, 2004

While you're at the 2004 JavaOne™ Conference, don't miss a Tuesday evening event, June 29, for an exclusive opportunity to participate in Java Communities in Action, including the Java Community Process℠ (JCP℠) program, Java.net, the Jini Community℠ and the JXTA™ Community.

This is your chance to mingle with fellow Java™ technology architects and developers, and meet with the companies and individuals most involved in the continued growth and success of Java technology.

Following opening remarks, food and beverages will be served with an opportunity for informal networking among the participants from the different communities. Short community spotlight presentations on the JCP program, Java.net, the Jini Community and the JXTA Community will happen throughout the evening.

Don't miss this exciting event! We look forward to seeing you there!
